Gas Service application (Coriolan)

Blue Light started to develop an application for Gas Service to manage gas bottle exchange.

The first part was the customer management interface.

The second part is the interface for gas bottle delivery and return management.

A change in the regulatory requirements put the project on hold, pending the Gas Service transitioning their workflow to meet the changed requirements.

Then Gas Service asked Coriolan to develop the application